5,000 In Attendance At Blue Valley Farm Show

BANGOR — A hot and nearly cloudless day ushered in the 14th annual Blue Valley Farm Show yesterday with 5,000 persons in attendance.

In the afternoon belligerent cows and hopeful children paraded within the show ring as first cows and then children passed under the judge's eye. Judges in their turn offered encouragement, praise and criticism in the procedure of selecting top quality performers.

Smaller children climbed aboard huge tractors with wide eyes of delight and busy hands while older brothers competed for prizes.

The first afternoon was spent applying finishing touches to exhibitions of farm machinery, commercial displays and industrial art exhibits. At the same time, judges weeded out the best peas, carrots, honey and a wide variety of other farm produce from the vast amounts submitted to the show.

With the arrival of night and a substantial number of people, a ferris wheel, rides and carnival games became active.

The major event of the night's entertainment was the pet parade with 69 persons entering. James F. Pritchard was master of ceremonies with Glenwood T. Lewis, Bangor police chief, Donald Rohn, Plainfield Township police chief, and Harold Wiggins, Northampton County game protector acting as judges.

Prizes were awarded in the following categories: Best Looking Dog — first, Donald Steinmetz, Bangor RD 3; second, Kay Williams, Bangor; third, Mack Smith, Pen Argyl. Best Looking Cat — first, Kathy Paolini, Pen Argyl; second, Larry Van Horn, Bangor; third, Sharon Featherman, Bangor RD 3.

Smallest Pet — first, Nelson Hoskin, Bangor; second, Duane Cecino, Roseto; third, Endress Folk, Bangor RD 1.

Largest Pet Family — first, Larry Conroy, Easton RD 1; second, Ronald and David Steinmetz, Bangor RD 3; third, Louise Hughes, Bangor.

Best Float — first, Lorene Cross, Mount Bethel; second, Davis and Eva Counterman, Bangor RD 1; third, Carol Lee Farleigh, Bangor RD 3.

Largest Pet — first, Anita Kulak, Ackermanville; second, David Wisk, Mount Bethel; third, Betsy Jones, Bangor.

Most Unusual Pet — Joann Moore, Bangor RD 1; second, David Rehig, Bangor RD 1; third, Donald Duco, Bangor.

An amateur talent program rounded out the day's activities.

Senate Passes New Sales Tax

Four Percent
Approved By
26-22 Vote

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate changed its mind Wednesday night and passed the 4 percent sales tax plan, 26-22.

There wasn't a word of debate as the 148½-million-dollar measure cleared the Senate after its defeat 18-30, earlier in the day.

A bipartisan agreement laid the groundwork for approval of the tax bill. Republicans increased their support from four votes to six and allowed two Democrats—Sen. Harry E. Seyler (York) and William J. Lane (Washington)—to vote against the measure.

The bill went to the House where a noon session is planned today to concur in Senate changes. Rep. W. Stuart Helm, House Republican policy committee chairman, said the 18 Republicans who voted to pass the bill in the House Aug. 5 probably would help pass the amendments.

The House abandoned plans to hold a post-midnight session to agree with the amendments. Too many of their members, who had left for home for the remainder of the week thinking their work was done, could not be contacted for a post-midnight session.

Dramatic Change — The dramatic change of heart in the Senate came after Republicans and Democrats held separate caucuses for more than two hours.

Victory for supporters of the 4 per cent sales tax was assured when Republicans announced they would supply six votes and Democrats agreed to cut down their no votes from the eight earlier in the day to two.

Sen. Charles R. Mallory (R-Blair) and Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) came through with the extra two GOP votes. They were joined by four other Republicans, Sens. M. Harvey Taylor (Dauphin), John Van Sant (Lehigh), J. Irving Whalley (Somerset) and Edward J. Kessler (Lancaster).

An administration source said the governor would sign the measure Thursday if it should reach his hands. His action would be based, said the source, on the fact that the Commonwealth is losing up to $200,000 in potential revenue daily as long as the 4 per cent sales tax remains unsigned.

Rep. Stephen McCann, House Democratic floor leader who predicted the lower branch would concur in the Senate amendments Thursday, sent out a state police alert to contact and insure the presence of House members who had left for home.

The problem was complicated by the expiration of hotel reservations for many of the assemblymen. A nurses' convention filled up available hotel rooms.

Other legislative developments: Driver's Licenses — The House defeated, 81-99, an administration plan to increase the $1 driver's license fee to $3.

The House Democratic leadership moved to reconsider the 22-million-dollar measure at a later date.

Income Tax — The House delayed action until next week on a proposed constitutional amendment for a graduated income tax of up to 6 per cent.

Republicans objected that a new change was faulty. It would out-law sales taxes if a state income tax were ever to become law in Pennsylvania.

General Appropriation Bill — The House Appropriations Committee sent to the floor the $1,514,470,387 general appropriations bill. The spending program for ordinary state expenses in the next two years may be passed next week and sent to the Senate.

Taxes — After passing the sales tax bill, the Senate immediately adjourned without acting on companion measures to impose on gas firms the 14-mill gross receipts tax on public utilities and doubling the 4-mill bank shares tax. Action on these levies are planned Thursday or next week.

Good Morning!

Some people may have their first dollar, but the man who is really rich is the one who still has his first friend.

Dyberry Dam Dedicated

By Bob Stewart

HONESDALE — On the anniversary of Hurricane Diane, which took quite a number of lives in the floods that followed, the Dyberry flood control dam was dedicated near here yesterday.

Dedicating the 4½ million dollar structure was Gen. Lyman T. Lemnitzer, Chief of Staff of the United States Army, and a native of Honesdale, just five miles from the dam site.

The dam had more than just a community interest to the general since, as he pointed out, his parents' home was inundated during the 1942 flood.

Gen. Lemnitzer said he was on his way to the European Theater of Operations when the flood of that year struck the valley, and he received a short leave to travel to Honesdale to assist.

Arriving home, the general said he remembered standing in his parents' living room hosing down the furniture and walls to clean up the mud which settled after the water receded.

During that flood, the general said, 24 lives were lost and more than six million dollars in property damage.

Pointing to the job accomplished by the Army Engineers, Gen. Lemnitzer said the dam is designed to take care of up to 7.1 inches of runoff in the area. This compares with a total of five inches for Hurricane Diane, he stated.

The general said the beginnings of the dam go back as far as 1948 when the Honesdale Flood Control Committee, under its chairman, Dr. K. A. Gillespie, began working for the project.

He also cited the work of the various legislative leaders in Congress, such as Congressman Stanley A. Prokop, and Sens. Joseph Clark and Hugh Scott, in their work to enable the final bills to pass.

Gen. Lemnitzer then said he was particularly pleased to learn a bill had been submitted by Rep. Prokop to name the dam for Lt. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, former head of the Corps of Engineers, and a Honesdale native.

He spoke of Jadwin's flood control work on the Mississippi River from 1926 to 1929.

Citing the role of the Corps of Engineers, the general said such non-military work is a normal job for the unit. The establishment of the Military Academy at West Point, he said, was due mainly to the need for engineers in the early history of our nation.

Gen. Lemnitzer then thanked those persons who gave up their land in order to build the dam.

"Dyberry Dam," he said, "is a great asset to the safety and welfare of this community . . . and typifies what can be accomplished by the combination of private individuals, local and State Government and Federal agencies." (Please Turn To Page 13)

Eldred Adopts Budget Of 19 Mills

By Harlan Stone

KUNKLETOWN — Eldred Township School Board last night unanimously adopted an estimated 1959-1960 budget calling for 19 mills.

Last year the township's school millage was 55. If Eldred had remained in the Pleasant Valley Jointure, the millage would have been 22, 28 or 38, depending on how much debt Eldred chose to clear, according to a budget projected for the jointure last April.

The estimated budget calls for $70,981 in receipts to be added to a balance of $1,687. Estimated expenditures will be $63,734. This will leave a balance of about $8,000.

The budget is based on actual 1957-1958 expenses and estimated 1958-1959 expenses. President Maynard W. Sterner said actual figures for last year will not be available until the township auditors make their final financial report.

Secretary Leon Barlieb said the board could levy 19.2 mills and still be within the provision of the 110 law which allows only a 10 per cent increase in revenue during the first year of the tax equalization program here.

Included in the expenses is $15,919 for tuition to Pleasant Valley Jointure for 49 secondary students who will be attending Polk Township High School.

The estimated $63,734 expenses for 1959-1960 compares with the unofficial $74,084 in expenses last year, when Eldred was a member of the jointure from July to Nov. 10.

Eldred had been a member of the jointure this year, total proposed expenditures, including debt service, would have been $76,135, according to the jointure's projected budget.

Expected receipts for Eldred this year will be $45,700 in state reimbursements, $5,106 from the $10 per capita tax under Act 481, $2,508 under the $5 per capita tax, and $17,455 under the real estate tax.

The real estate revenue will come from the township's appraised fair market value of $982,600. Last year the township's 55 mills brought in $16,057 on a total fair market value of $312,065. Per capita tax of $5 last year amounted to $2,600.

Board members said they expect to borrow $13,000 next week to tide them over until some of the expected receipts start coming in.

Rate Increase Suspended

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposal by the Delaware Valley Telephone Co., Johnstown, N.Y., to boost rates $40,275 a year was suspended Wednesday until Feb. 26 by the Public Utility Commission.

The increase, filed to become effective Aug. 26, would affect 2,212 Pennsylvania subscribers in Pike County.

Khrushchev Debate Set For Today

By Don Allen

FOREST PARK — Plans for increased political activity were discussed by the executive council of the AFL-CIO here yesterday.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said that while the council did not discuss the action of Congress, which last week saw the Landrum-Griffith labor bill pass the House of Representatives, it indicates the AFL-CIO "must do some more work."

Meany added, "We've got to educate our own people on the value of political activity."

He said the AFL-CIO does not consider itself part of any political party and "I hope we never do," but added that education is needed so that labor may do a "more effective job" in the political field.

Meany said he expects no substantial change in the Landrum-Griffith bill, which is opposed by the AFL-CIO. It is now in a Senate-House conference committee.

Senate Vote

Meany told newsmen he expects the Senate will vote on the bill substantially as it was passed by the house.

Referring to the conference committee, Meany said the committee is on notice that if it "doesn't do as it is told within a certain time, the bill will be taken from them."

He said friends of labor on the committee have indicated they will not permit a worse bill to be drafted in the committee and said he expects no agreement in the committee with a result that the group will be discharged and the bill reported to the floor of the Senate.

Meany declined to discuss provisions of the bill, saying a complete analysis, including the question of its constitutionality, will be made after it is finally enacted.

Reference

He added that the council's opinion of the bill, voiced Tuesday, has been sent to all members of Congress. Meany had referred to the measure Tuesday as a "killer bill" designed by proponents of big business.

The AFL-CIO head said the council will discuss today what if any action it will take on the impending visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States next month.

Also on today's agenda will be recommendations of the council's economic policy committee.

32 Perish In Crash Of Airliner

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — A chartered airliner crashed into a mountain peak Wednesday in a dense fog, killing all 32 persons aboard. Most victims were vacationing British students.

The plane burned after smashing head on into the 2,400-foot high Peak of Man 25 miles north-east of Barcelona. Flames drove off rescuers who rushed to the scene from a nearby weather station.

The plane, chartered by the British National Union of Students, crashed minutes after taking off from Prat de Llobregat Airport for London.

There were at first conflicting reports on the exact number of passengers aboard, but authorities said the passenger list showed there were 21 British students returning home from vacations in Spain.

The three crew members—pilot, copilot and stewardess—also were British.

Discoverer Zooms High Into Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE

BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Discoverer VI satellite zoomed into orbit Wednesday carrying a capsule the Air Force hopes to snatch from the air as it parachutes earthward near Hawaii today.

The 1,700-pound satellite was caught by tracking stations in Alaska as it was completing its first circuit of the earth. It was launched at 12:20 p.m.

The Air Force said it was circling the earth's poles once every 95 minutes and is expected to stay in orbit at least 30 days.

Following an egg-shaped path through the skies, it comes within 138 miles of earth at its closest point and goes as far out as 537 miles.

Indicative

Radio signals are loud and strong, the Air Force said, indicating that the satellite is stable in orbit.

In Sunnyvale, Calif., Maj. Gen. O. J. Ritland, commander of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division and Herschel Brown, general manager of Lockheed Aircraft's Missiles and Space Division, said in a joint statement: "The successful orbiting of two Discoverer satellites in less than a week marks a tremendous forward step in the scientific study of space vehicles and their applications."

The plane, chartered by the British National Union of Students, crashed minutes after taking off from Prat de Llobregat Airport for London.

There were at first conflicting reports on the exact number of passengers aboard, but authorities said the passenger list showed there were 21 British students returning home from vacations in Spain.

The three crew members—pilot, copilot and stewardess—also were British.

Meany Quick Man With Quip During Press Conference

FOREST PARK — George Meany, AFL-CIO president, is a quick man with a quip. And he can take it, too.

At yesterday's news conference at which he briefed newsmen on the day's session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, Meany was asked a rather involved question.

The AFL-CIO head asked for a clarification and then commented, "That's a pretty evasive answer."

To which the newsmen replied, "I got that way from hanging around too many other presidents, George."

Government Lists Steel Information

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government turned loose a mass of figures Wednesday to show that in the strike-closed steel industry, wages, prices and profits have been going up for years.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made the statistics public at the direction of President Eisenhower in the hope this would lead the striking Steelworkers Union and the steel companies to bargain harder for a settlement.

But Mitchell refused to say a word about what he thought either side should do in the way of give and take.

"There are no conclusions drawn (from the figures)," he said. "The responsibility for a settlement of the strike rests upon management and labor."

He did point out the public has an interest in the strike, which has been going on for 36 days, costing each week 300 million dollars worth of production and 70 million dollars in wages.

Mitchell presided over a news conference in the gold and green conference room of the Interdepartmental Auditorium. But he gave few concrete answers to the several hundred newsmen pouring over the collections of figures, charts and textual matter.

He did say, in reply to a question as to when a national emergency might result from the strike that this could occur by the latter part of September or early October.

By then, Mitchell said, very serious shortages in steel would begin to appear. He said the effect so far has not been serious from a national standpoint.

Philip Arrow, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, discussed the charts with the aid of lantern slides and a flashlight indicator.

Reuther Claims Auto Union Probe Inspired By Politics

FOREST PARK — Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, said yesterday a Senate Rackets Committee probe of the union is "politically inspired."

Reuther, attending the Summer meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council at Unity House here, renewed his demand that the investigation be made public.

Minister — Reuther said he meant not only the testimony already taken by the committee and future hearings but also the minutes of the executive sessions.

The UAW president said the probe was inspired by Republicans seeking to discredit the union. John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat, is chairman of the committee conducting the investigation.

The committee announced Tuesday that it will release transcripts of testimony already taken and said future hearings will be open.

Crabgrass Grows Best On Sunny, Well Groomed Lawn

CRABGRASS NOTES—Why is it you never see crabgrass growing wild in the open fields, yet it thrives lustily in the cultivated, well-groomed lawn? The answer is simple once you understand the nature of crabgrass. It cannot tolerate shade and thus cannot compete with vigorous, tall growing grasses in the open field. Crabgrass likes a lawn that's mowed closely. Seeds which fall into a dense growth of bluegrass or field grasses are doomed, but when they fall on to a sparse lawn where they get sunshine, they'll sprout and take over.

While shade is crabgrass's weakest point, it has many other strong points which accounts for its survival. It can lie buried in the soil for a quarter of a century or longer. Each plant can give off as many as 300,000 seeds. When you realize that the crabgrass seed production goes on in the same area year after year, you can well understand why the soil is saturated with millions of seeds.

Control—I wish I had a dime for each dollar being spent on chemicals for controlling crabgrass. Some work and some don't. You can't count on chemicals to permanently knock out crabgrass. At best they are temporary controls.

There are two approaches to control: The so-called "pre-emergence" seed killers, which work on the sprouting seeds. One new chemical is called Calcium arsenate and it is used on mature plants. The other approach is to use a "Post-Emergence" chemical, one which works on the crabgrass plant itself.

Another arsenical, "Sodax" will kill mature plants, although it must be used with care on lawns containing bent grass. Sodax will kill chickweed, knotweed and silver crabgrass. It is applied in different forms and you should be sure to read instructions on the package before using.

I've said this many times before, the best way to lick crabgrass is to have a good healthy turf. Keep the seed heads mowed off, to avoid reseeding. Then feed and feed your lawn in Fall and Spring. After the first frost in fall, you can feed your grasses to encourage them to make growth in Fall and early Winter, and Spring. This growth will be so thick crabgrass just cannot get a start.

When you are fighting a weed whose seed remains viable from 25 to 40 years in the ground, you can see why you have a real job getting rid of it, either with physical or chemical means.

Question Box

F. R. of Jonest "Some spots in my lawn don't grow grass too well. If I had my soil analyzed would it help?"

A soil analysis would be useful. Many gardeners believe that a soil analysis will tell them what their soils need but this is not so. In the first place, just about 100 percent of the soil samples taken are improperly taken.

Not many county agents or state college specialists tell gardeners how important it is to have a representative soil sample. You can't go out in your lawn and scoop up a handful of soil and send it along for a professional analysis. The results would be meaningless.

A pint of soil (the size of a composite sample) is about 1/150,000,000th part of an acre. A level teaspoonful (the amount actually tested in the laboratory) is 1/100th part of a pint. You can readily see how useless it would be to reply on a soil analysis to help your lawn.

There is a test that can be helpful—the pH (sweet or sour test) which can be done by yourself, using simple pH testing kits. Don't expect the "toy" kits to analyze your soil and spot your troubles. They are useful to the home gardener only for determining acidity.

A soil's acidity (or alkalinity) can help guide you in changing the pH level and get better use of various fertilizer elements that might be "locked" up in the soil. Rather than spend money on a complete soil analysis, why not divert the money toward buying fertilizer for those poor spots?

Incidentally, if any of our friends want more information on soil tests, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a free illustrated bulletin, "How to Make a Soil Test."

N. B. of Stroudsburg: "I saw a plant called bedstraw or false baby's breath and like it. Can it be started from seed or cuttings?"

Galium aristatum (usually sold as Galium mollugo) is called false baby's breath because it does resemble Gypsophila paniculata, even though the plants are very different.

The flower heads are numerous and small growing on stems three feet tall. Cut stems are ideal for fillers in floral arrangements, giving bouquets a misty effect. Propagate by seeds and divisions taken in Fall or Spring. Plants are easy to grow and this one is well worth a spot in the rock garden or perennial border. The tiny flower heads can be spray painted any color you wish for greater effect.

Hibernating Bats

Stocks May Stay Down

By William A. Doyle
International Investment Analyst

Q. I know a real "financial wizard." He makes more money from interest on stocks than I could ever dream of investing. After much pleading by me, he suggested a couple of stocks to me. I invested $500 and, in less than a year, doubled my money.

Among other bits of advice, he emphasized that "you cannot lose money in a stock unless—"

1. "You sell at a low. (Wait and it will go back up.) Or..."

2. "The company goes out of business."

The last part is what bothers me. My $1,000 is now invested in stocks of four different well-rated companies. These stocks are rated "A" or "A-plus" by the financial rating services. I bought them at what I believe are nearly their lowest prices, considering their prices in previous years. (I've heard I'm known as a "chartist.")

Still, my friends and relatives all tell me I am just lucky. They say I should sell out now, before I lose it all.

Are there any statistics that show the chances of well-rated companies going bankrupt?

A. Brace yourself for some rapid fire comment.

There are no statistics of the type you seek—mainly because companies usually fall out of the well-rated category long before they hit the final skids. It is very possible for any company to go bankrupt. But, for a well-managed company, the possibility is remote.

The idea that, if you wait long enough, the prices of all stocks will recover any loss they have suffered is just so much foolishness, no matter what that "financial wizard" says. Many, many stocks today are selling well below their previous prices. Some may never come back to their previous highs.

You're not a "chartist." You seem to have simply picked stocks that were suffering, price-wise. That was a heck of a way to do things, in a period when practically any stock has shown a big price increase. Chartists are in a class by themselves. They use all kinds of statistics to "chart" the course of the market and individual stocks. Then they end up arguing among themselves. Some chartists are good. Some are useless.

Financial rating services are far from perfect. Stocks don't pay interest.

They pay dividends. If you think you can double your money every 12 months by buying and selling stocks, you are headed for a sad disappointment.

Let's face it. You have been lucky. Don't be scared away from stock ownership—if you can afford to invest and if you are willing to settle for moderate investment aims.

But don't shoot for the moon.

Q. Please give me a straight answer to this question. It seems to me that you have skirted around it, from time to time, but have never really hit it on the head.

Are government bonds a safe investment in case of bad inflation?

A. No fixed-income securities are good investments (from a purchasing power point of view) in periods of bad inflation—when the value of dollars decreases.

Fixed-income securities include government bonds, corporate bonds, preferred stocks and anything else with a fixed payout in dollars.

But, if the payout is sufficient to overcome inflation, fixed-income securities are a mighty comforting thing to own.

Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Revising UC Fund

The Lawrence Administration is proposing a special payroll tax to restore Pennsylvania's unemployment compensation fund to a comfortable balance.

The Governor's plan would impose a tax of seven-tenths of one percent on payrolls for a period of three years. An estimated $60,000,000 would be raised annually.

The proposal also calls for readoption of the merit-rating system, whereby employers with a lower rate of idleness in their plants pay lower contribution rates to the jobless fund.

Another phase of the bill would raise benefits from the present $35 maximum to possibly $40 or $42.50 and extend the payment period beyond the present 30-week term to as much as 33 or 40 weeks.

In revising the UC law, a few loopholes which have contributed to near-depletion of the jobless fund would be closed.

The bill, for example, would bar benefits to students whose work record consists of Summer vacation employment or work which is part of the curriculum of a cooperative institute.

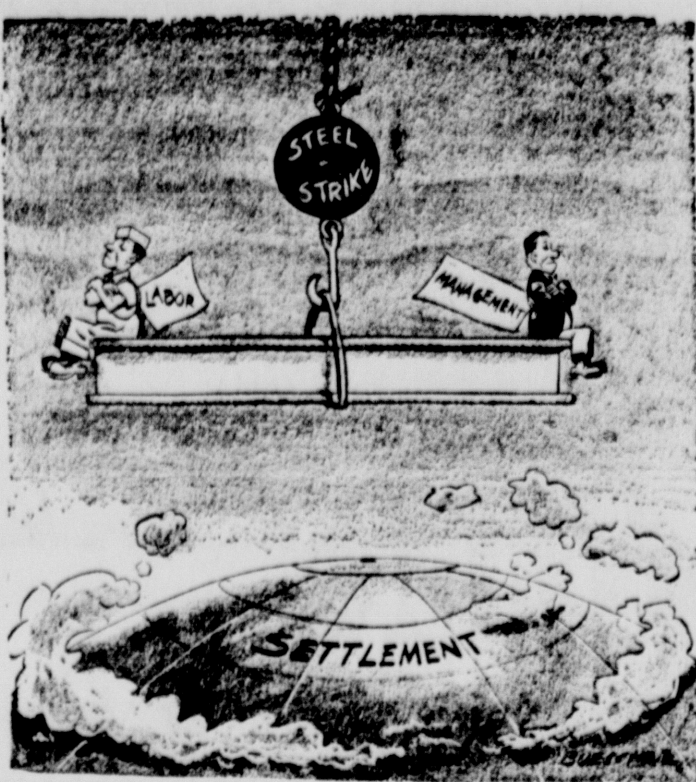

On the other hand, eligibility for benefits is extended under the proposal to a number of persons not now covered.

While granted that raising benefits is desirable, the fact remains the fund is in such a precarious condition that even an increase in the payroll tax is not going to restore it to a safe balance if additional drains are made on the fund.

In other words, the word "unemployment" will have to be redefined in the revision bill to eliminate many more of the loophole cases which raid the UC fund without justification. Such cases are those covering retirement, marriage, pregnancy, moving from one place to another and many others which are not truly unemployment.

The extent of these loophole payments is indicated by a recent study in Lancaster County, where it was found that abuses cost about $100,000 a year and represent one-fifth of all the claims processed by the UC office.

The Governor is to be congratulated for trying to restore fiscal soundness to the fund. But he and his administration also have an obligation to make it almost impossible for the chiseler to qualify for benefits. The fund must be kept solvent so that those workers who deserve compensation may be assured of assistance when they lose their jobs.

George Sokolsky Says...

How To See America

Usually when guests of the nation come to this country, the State Department works out an itinerary which often includes the big and spectacular cities and such places as are of special interest to the visitor.

There are dinners and luncheons and speeches are delivered. Obviously, the man who is guarded by secret police and FBI agents and the local police and who moves through the country in a storm of confetti learns very little about the American people, what they think, how they live, and what they really believe to be true.

The mass demonstration for Vice President Richard Nixon in Warsaw gave evidence of a spontaneous friendliness to an American, but neither Nixon nor anyone in his entourage sat down to a glass of tea with a few simple proletarian families, just as Khrushchev will not have occasion to do anything like that in this country.

Charles L. Dancy, editor of "The Peoria Journal Star," has made an interesting suggestion for Khrushchev's visit. He, of course, wants to have Khrushchev brought to Peoria. What, at least, could be done is to fly the Russian low from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati where he can see the greatest industrial complex in the world.

He could be put down in the smaller cities of this area; it should be possible for him to visit homes. He might pick and choose so that he could not suspect that the show was set up for him.

He would find many Russian and Polish speaking people in these areas who could tell him of their lives in this country. He would find many whose ancestors were Ukrainians.

He would discover how descendants of a great many races and nationalities manage to live and work together, retaining some of their inherited customs; but in the third generation, he will find that a new breed is emerging, an American breed, somewhat different from their sires but also different from what he might see in New York or Washington, in New Orleans or Chicago, in San Francisco or Los Angeles.

The Middle West like New England is the America he ought to see, in many respects more surprising than the larger cities.

There is no American type as there is no Russian type. Certainly a Kalmuck is different from a Georgian, as a Ukrainian is different from a Uzbek.

In the United States, these differences are more pronounced because here for about 300 years, races of man have been mixing in a veritable melting pot. In some areas, the basic stock was Anglo-Saxon; in others, it was French or Spanish.

There was no time, from the earliest settlements until today, when there was not an influx of Germanic peoples into this country. It is difficult to trace this kind of statistics, but there have been many German, Dutch, and Scandinavian migrants into the United States as Anglo-Saxon. It is estimated that there are about 12,000,000 descendants of Italians.

The Jews first arrived in 1653 and there have been Jewish immigrants ever since; also, Jews have since the earliest days been assimilated into the general population and have disappeared as Jews. That trend is impossible to study thoroughly because of intermarriages and the Anglicization of names, but in certain areas, it must have been notably active.

All Russians have been led to believe that the Negroes are a brutally treated minority nationality without rights, practically enslaved. And if Khrushchev is taken to Harlem in New York City, he will be in the ugliest ghetto in the world where Negroes live in crowded tenements and are usually exploited by Negro and white politicians.

However, there are cities in the South and in the West where Negroes live comfortably and even advantageously because they are Negroes. It would be an act of patriotism for Negro labor leaders to establish to Khrushchev the fact of the equality of pay for identical work in cities like Detroit and Pittsburgh.

He should be taken to universities where he can see Negro boys and girls preparing for national leadership. The lies that have been told in Russia by American Communists need to be exploded. Perhaps Khrushchev can still learn something about the United States and the American people.

If we want to show off, this is the kind of showing off we need to do. If this visit is not for showing off purposes, what is it for?

We need to establish the fact that here live some 50 races and nationalities of man in mutual interest without accentuation of differences, but with freedom to pursue their differences if they so desire. We need to show him that in our freely demonstrated differences lie our strength.

Mortimer's New York Confidential

By Lee Mortimer

It's A Long Hot Summer — (And I don't make it shorter): What a laugh on the charges and countercharges between the publishers of "Lady Chatterley's Lover." The book is in the public domain because it was first printed in the English language in Italy and thus did not secure British copyright protection. Thus every publisher is "pirating" it. Grove, which brought the court action, already cleaned up $250,000 from the hard cover sale before the others jumped into the act with paper covers. Incidentally, I always considered the book deadly dull. Even the Lawrence cultists don't rank it as a major effort. If it hadn't been banned in the beginning, it would have sold a few thousand copies and then died away. For my money, you can take "Chatterley" and James Joyce's "Ulysses" and throw 'em both in the waste basket. Their chief crime isn't dirt. It's dullness. And that's the greatest crime of all.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Republican congressional leaders are agog over a spectacular report about Attorney General J. Lee Rankin (Neb.).

Walsh is credited with having the inside track, is the most likely choice.

Rogers has long been Nixon's closest friend and political adviser. The inside word that he is leaving the Administration to manage Nixon's 1960 presidential campaign is a surprise only in one respect.

Republican politicians had understood that former National Chairman Leonard Hall was picked for this job — on the basis of his extensive experience and party ties.

This unexpected report about Rogers is the latest on cabinet

some time and is considering two high Justice Department officials as his successor.

They are Deputy Attorney General Lawrence Walsh (N.Y.) and Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin (Neb.).

Walsh is credited with having the inside track, is the most likely choice.

Rogers has long been Nixon's closest friend and political adviser. The inside word that he is leaving the Administration to manage Nixon's 1960 presidential campaign is a surprise only in one respect.

Republican politicians had understood that former National Chairman Leonard Hall was picked for this job — on the basis of his extensive experience and party ties.

This unexpected report about Rogers is the latest on cabinet departures.

Defense Secretary McElroy has been talking publicly for some time about returning to his soap business. And Postmaster General Summerfield has been intimating he is seriously thinking of going back to Michigan to run for senator next year.

Both Deputy Attorney General Walsh and Solicitor General Rankin are one-time "Dewey men."

Walsh was legal adviser to the former New York Governor, and gave up the federal district bench to become deputy to Rogers a month after he was made attorney general in 1957. Rankin was in charge of Dewey's 1948 presidential campaign in Nebraska.

Political — House Republican Leader Charles Halleck's resounding victory in putting over the tough Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill could be an important factor in winning him the 1960 vice presidential nomination. The dynamic Indiana has been warmly congratulated on his outstanding legislative feat by President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, National Chairman Thurston Morton and GOP leaders throughout the country.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) has received less than a dozen letters criticizing her for voting against confirming former Commerce Secretary Lewis Strauss, and more than 100 praising her for that. All of the latter came from her own state, and all of the former from other places.

National Chairman Morton is organizing "schools of politics" in the six Western states where GOP senators are up for election year. These "schools" will run about two months and will be for the purpose of preparing party workers for an all-out campaign.

Explains Morton "We're going to concentrate where we feel we can accomplish something. All too often we have failed to do that. We haven't done an effective organizing and electioneering job where it was needed most, such as re-electing incumbent Republican senators and representatives. That's what we propose to give special attention to in 1960."

How To Do It — President Eisenhower has been getting some intriguing advice on how to deal with Premier Khrushchev during his forthcoming visit.

Treat him firmly and bluntly. That's what the President is being told by Vice President Nixon, on the basis of his barbed-wire encounters with the Kremlin czar. From this rough-and-tumble experience, Nixon has counseled the President:

"You must always stand up to him. If you let him think you are uncertain or uneasy, he will take instant advantage of you. At all times be forthright and blunt. That's the only kind of talk he understands. And it's the only kind he respects. That's the way he talks, and that's the way he must be talked to."

Nixon also reported about a "startling discovery" in Poland. "One highly important fact I learned there," he said, "is that if Russian troops were withdrawn, the people of Poland would throw out the Communist government overnight. That was the most startling discovery I made on my entire trip."

Note: Nixon has informed congressional friends that he has "never yet discussed my 1960 plans" with President Eisenhower.

Why The Delay?

To The Editor:

I wish to compliment the State Highway Dept. on the excellent resurfacing of the Cherry Hill Road starting at Anomolink. It is a first rate piece of work, and promptly completed.

I also wish to complain about the insufferable delay on the new high level bridge over the railroad and creek at Percy Crawford's camp. This work has crawled on for months to the completion point, and there it sits with an incomplete approach.

Is Contractor Gasparini out of money, manpower or incentive? Why can't the bridge be put to use before the Winter sets in?

Perhaps this performance should be remembered the next time bids are awarded on new jobs.

Let Them Decide

Dear Abby: A neighbor of mine gave her nine-year-old daughter a birthday party in her back yard and didn't invite my little girl. They are the same age and play together every day.

When I saw all the other playmates dressed up in their party dresses, laughing and having the best time, I couldn't believe my eyes. My little girl felt so bad she cried. I was all choked up myself but pretended I didn't care.

Should I let my daughter go over there and play with that neighbor girl? I used to like my neighbor, but now I have no use for her. Would you?

VERY HURT

Dear Very: It is almost impossible to keep youngsters from playing with the neighbor children, so don't attempt it. It's difficult to know whether the mother didn't want your daughter at the party or if her child had a temporary "mad" on at the time. If the girls want to play together, I'd say let them, and forget the unhappy incident.

Dear Abby: In your column you advised a Baptist girl to consult a Roman Catholic priest about a possible interfaith marriage. Why didn't you ask her to consult her own pastor?

If a Catholic boy had written, would you have advised him to consult a Protestant minister?

The advice you gave was not impartial. I confess that I am disappointed in this attitude of yours.

C.M.D.

Dear C.M.D.: The Baptist girl was seeking information about the Catholic Church, not interfaith marriage. So I sent her to a priest for that information. Had a Catholic boy sought information about the Protestant church, I would have advised him to consult an authority in that field — a Protestant minister.

Dear Abby: I noticed in your column that a woman had a terrible time with a husband who cursed and used vulgar language. Let me tell you how I cured mine of this habit.

Every time he cursed or said something vulgar I charged him 25 cents. Each time there was a violation I totaled it verbally.

When he reached $25 I went out and bought something for myself, and charged it to him. It worked! MRS. A.C.C.

DOUBLE-CROSSED

Dear Abby: My buddy always used to say he didn't have the nerve to ask a girl for a date so I'd let him come along with me and my girl. The three of us would have a real good time. At Christmas I gave my girl a set of rings (the wedding band to be used when I get out of service next year) and she liked them a lot. I thought I was in paradise!

Now she and my buddy came to me and asked if it would be all right if my buddy took over my girl and the payments on the rings. She says it's him she wants, not me. And he says the reason he never went out with any other girl was because he loved my girl all along. Should I leave them in peace or should I kick up the kind of fuss they deserve?

Dear Double: The damage is done. Let your buddy have the girl and take over the payments on the rings (and be sure he repays you the amount you've paid on the rings so far). Next time you think you are in "paradise" — watch out for the snakes.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Who Should Pay The Way?

While $150,000 won't break the Pennsylvania Treasury, it is not right for the state to appropriate that sum to perform functions that are the obligation of private interests.

The Senate and House have passed a bill to grant $105,000 to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries to test a coal tar product developed by Curtiss-Wright Corp. in its laboratories in Central Pennsylvania.

This is considerably less than the half million dollars the company suggested the state should spend to test this material as a binder on highways. Nevertheless, it is state money that would be used to further private interests.

Although the material is derived from soft coal and soft coal mining is one of Pennsylvania's sick industries, we still cannot see the justification for using state funds to prove the value of this material in road building?

We in the Lehigh Valley should be especially disturbed by the proposal to use state funds. Our own cement industry has a stake in the program.

As Sen. Rooney (D-Northampton) pointed out in debate on the measure, the cement industry used 2 million tons of coal in its mills last year and consumed electric power generated with another 4 million tons. That makes cement a major coal customer. The cement firms also are major state tax payers and literally would be helping to finance their own potential competition if the $150,000 is finally made available to conduct the tests.

There can be no honest resistance to real progress in road building or any other field. But that progress should not be bought with tax dollars paid by the people who spent their own money in developing their own industries in the same field.

The cement industry was built through private effort, not through public funds. Is it wrong to expect other industries to do the same?

The Pennsylvania Story

Subsidizing Other States

By Mason Denison Harrisburg

Unwittingly perhaps, Pennsylvania's taxpayers unquestionably are a phalanx of

As lawmakers stew and fret with pseudo-furrowed brows over ways and means of cutting the near two billion-dollar budget taxpayers of the Keystone State eventually must underwrite, Pennsylvania apparently is destined to continue subsidizing activities of other states — as well as its own!

For example: Pennsylvania's medical schools—rated among the top in the nation — each year attract students from other states.

In fact it is estimated that roughly 20 per cent of the enrollment in medical schools of the Keystone State is made up of out-of-state students.

State financial assistance is provided these medical schools, which during the past 1957-59 biennium amounted to some $14,250,000.

Governor Lawrence's budget for the 1959-61 biennium proposes upping this state aid to medical schools to roughly $17,000,000.

At the present time it is estimated that this state aid breaks down to something like $1300 per student per year.

Under the proposed $1.7 billion General Fund Budget which has yet to be given legislative blessing, the subsidy per student would approximate more than $2000 a year.

Few will deny the tremendously pressing need for more and more doctors — and few will deny the splendid program Pennsylvania enjoys with its outstanding medical training facilities.

But when it comes to the point of Pennsylvania picking up the tab for other states — whose students train here and in most cases depart to other states to practice after they are through — the story indeed is somewhat different.

Out-of-state medical students pay the same fees and tuition as resident students — and at Pennsylvania State University where a nominal tuition is charged resident students, out-of-state students are required to pay a tuition fee nearly twice as high.

Why the same principle is not applicable to Pennsylvania's state-aided medical schools is becoming an irking point with a number of legislators.

New Jersey had no medical schools until 1955 when one was opened for the first time at Seton University — but even this is not state-aided by New Jersey.

Students from that state use Pennsylvania schools with no increased tuition or any sort of reimbursement to Pennsylvania for the training of their residents.

Some years ago the proposal was docily broached to New Jersey that the state set up some form of reimbursement for its residents that trained at Pennsylvania medical schools, but in the words of one legislative official familiar with the case, "New Jersey literally laughed in our faces."

The State of Florida on the other hand has established a subsidy of $1800 per student to be paid other states training their residents — but only in states south of the Mason-Dixon Line, Suhr!

Pennsylvania taxpayers apparently are not only destined to continue to subsidize out-of-state medical students — but under the present Administration budget, provide even greater financial assistance to non-residents.

Strike At ESSTC Building To Continue

Kline Asks For New Job Steward

BOYD Kline, Bloomsburg contractor working at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, said yesterday Robert L. Moyer, Ironworkers' Union business agent in Bethlehem, did not answer his request for the appointment of a new job steward at the site of two new buildings at the college.

Kline made the request in a telegram to Moyer and had not received a reply by 9:15 p.m. "I'm not taking my men to East Stroudsburg to work tomorrow" (today), Kline said last night. He added that he will not meet with Moyer.

Work stopped at the site of the college's new Science Building and Women's Dormitory Tuesday after Kline's superintendent, Harold Fisk, fired Robert Clarkson, Delaware Water Gap, as steward for the ironworkers.

"He should have been fired two months ago," Kline declared. The contractor said Clarkson was getting paid over five an hour, $30 a day, and doing nothing.

Steward's Job
Kline described a steward's job as seeing that no one except members of the ironworkers' union touch the steel being used on the projects.

Kline's telegram to Moyer yesterday read: "Request pickets be removed from Stroudsburg jobs today (Wednesday)."

"Request one of four steelworkers who worked Monday be made steward of our jobs. Your pickets this morning have caused me to remove my personnel in order to avoid unnecessary and unlawful expenses. Notify our Bloomsburg office prior to 4 p.m. today (Wednesday) if above request will be complied with so our crafts who need work can return for work tomorrow (today) and college will not be denied use of these two buildings."

"Request you check my statement at this meeting in front of your representative that if he (Clarkson) got laid off, it would cause no work stoppage. Request you promptly remove pickets and abide by agreement at meeting attended by Caruso of General State Authority."

The last paragraphs in Kline's telegram referred to a meeting between union officials and the Kline firm which settled the last labor dispute at the college July 24, after a five-day stoppage.

Agreement
At that time it was agreed there would be no further stoppages until disputes were arbitrated and talked over on a union-workmen-employer basis.

During the same session Kline warned Clarkson to "quit loafing on the job." Kline said it was agreed if Clarkson was fired, there would be no labor dispute.

Kline said yesterday Moyer has been business agent for the ironworkers' union only four days. He said Moyer wanted Clarkson rehired for two days so he could investigate the reasons for Clarkson's dismissal.

Kline said he would rather see the construction jobs stopped than be forced to rehire the dismissed ironworker.

Work on the science building is about 80 percent complete. The contractor said he had hoped to turn the building over to the college no later than Oct. 1 so that an estimated 500 new students could be accommodated next semester.

The dormitory project is 25 percent complete. Wilson notified Kline by phone Tuesday that the picketing was without his sanction and that ironworkers were disregarding their previous pledge.

Kline denied a statement by Wilson that three ironworkers were fired. The contractor said the three men were laid off because of lack of work after sashes in the science building were installed.

Kline also charged there was a two and one-half day delay in installation of the sashes as the result of a dispute between carpenters and ironworkers over who should handle the work and failure of ironworkers to bring sufficient tools.

Kline said scheduled completion date of the science building is June, 1960, but that he promised the GSA and the college it would be completed by Sept. 15 of this year.

He said completion of the two projects at the college depends upon how soon the unions practice the pledge made several weeks ago.

Stroud Union To Lose $10,019 In Aid

STROUD Union School District will lose $10,019 in state aid during the 1960-1961 school year if the State Tax Equalization Board's controversial findings are put into effect on schedule.

Earl F. Groner, superintendent of schools, made this disclosure last night at the August meeting of the union school board.

He said the new formula for determining subsidies will not become effective with the coming term. Whether it will be changed for the following school year depends on bills before the Legislature.

The reimbursement fraction would not be lowered for two years (until 1962-1963) under one bill being considered. Under another measure, the state would absorb half the school aid loss the first year and 25 percent during each of the next two years.

Groner said the $10,019 represented four-tenths of one mill taxation on the basis of new assessment figures.

The four districts making up the union district have a total assessed value of $19,939,700, according to a report made by Warren F. Loney, board secretary. This compares with the $19,768,300 estimate made before the 1959-1960 budget was prepared.

The assessment figures by districts (with 1958 assessments in parentheses) follow:
Stroudsburg, $8,234,400 ($4,683,475); Stroud Township, $7,409,000 ($2,239,435); Hamilton Township, $3,146,600 ($921,822); and Delaware Water Gap, $1,149,700 ($373,300).

Stroud Union School Board To Request Extension In Fire-Safety Alterations

STROUD Union School Board voted last night to request a one-year postponement in making fire-safety alterations in five school buildings in the district.

The extension was sought after Murrel R. Kiefer, architect, advised the board that no serious fire hazards are present in any of the buildings and the work could not be done before the start of the 1960-61 school term without interfering in some instances with school activities.

Dr. John P. Lim, board president, also pointed out that the proposed improvements go beyond the changes ordered by the Department of Labor and Industry during a state-wide check of school fire hazards. Furthermore, he said, no money has been budgeted for the work.

Cost of the entire program was set at around $11,000, divided as follows: Morey School, $5,037; Delaware Water Gap, $4,780; high school, $425; Anasomink, $500, and Clearview, $250.

In another action, the board adopted the schedules presented by Alfred W. Munson, high school principal, and Roger Dunning, elementary supervisor. Twp. high school is extending its school day 24 minutes and the grade schools, 30 minutes.

The board also: Elected Mrs. Gloria Cox, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, as a science teacher at a salary of $3,600.

Awarded a contract to R. J. Groner for installing two drinking fountains in the high school cafeteria and one in the gymnasium lobby at a low bid of $1,286, and a contract to the same firm for a heating and ventilating unit in the Clearview School at its low bid of $1,572.

Awarded a contract to Richard Shook for installing 28 venetian blinds in nine east rooms in the high school at a low bid of $783.

Heard a report of Superintendent Earl F. Groner that the custodians have all the schools in fine shape for the opening of classes Sept. 9.

He also said the new electric scoreboard has arrived and will be erected at the eastern end of the football field by Clarence Booth, chief custodian, and his assistants.

It was reported that the school district had been reimbursed in the sum of $500 for land taken in front of the Morey School when the state built the new bridge over Pocono Creek.

Before adjoining, the board granted permission to use the Clearview School as a polling place after the court grants permission to divide Middle Stroud into two voting districts. Arlington Heights will remain as the polling place for the other half of the district.

Tocks Island Dam Project Uncertain

DYBERRY — The future of the Tocks Island dam project is still up in the air, the Daily Record learned yesterday.

Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of Forest and Waters, was asked the disposition of the possible building of the dam on the Delaware River yesterday at the dedication of the Dyberry Flood Control Dam here, and he said there is nothing definite to report as yet.

Goddard did say the completion of the Dyberry Dam, and the finish of the Prompton Dam next year will not be the end of the flood control projects in this area, but he did not enlarge on this statement.

Near Completion
Regarding the Delaware River Basin Report which the Philadelphia District, Army Engineers are presently making, Goddard corroborated what Brig. Gen. Clarence Renshaw, assistant chief of engineers for military construction said in his talk.

Renshaw said the survey is near completion and will be submitted to Congress in the near future. Goddard told the Daily Record that a draft of the report, subject to change, will be submitted for first approval in December.

In the final analysis then, the future of any dams on the river or in the Monroe County area will depend upon what the report has to say, Goddard revealed.

Cost — Four and one-half million dollars.

Length — 1,280 feet at the crest.

Width — 30 feet at top, and 700 feet at bottom.

Outlet — Uncontrolled rock tunnel, 600 feet long, and eight feet in diameter.

Reservoir — Four miles long, when filled, and will control runoff from drainage area of 65 square miles.

Senators In Favor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's senators, Democrat Joseph S. Clark and Republican Hugh Scott, both voted for the new $1,050,000,000 housing bill which the Senate passed recently by 71-24.

Goddard At Greentown Flood Area

GREENTOWN — Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania secretary of forests and waters, paused in a busy schedule yesterday to visit the site where 11 persons drowned in the Aug. 18, 1955, flood.

It was the fourth anniversary of the flood and Dr. Goddard was amazed at the progress the area has made since Hurricane Diane and her aftermath swept through the Poconos leaving behind death and destruction.

Dr. Goddard had arranged to meet Mrs. Harry Duecker, leader of the area's battle for flood control.

She had protested the slow progress of work being done at the site of her home where the confluence of the Wallenpaupack and Paupack Creeks has endangered her home and property. She had further sought relief of the problem of stagnant water and destruction of her land.

Dr. Goddard made verbal promises that many of the things she asked for would be granted. He said the stagnant pool, now the abandoned creekbed, would be filled in. He also promised that a huge, dead tree on the bank of the Wallenpaupack would be cut down this week and stated he would see that trees destroyed on her property were replaced.

But he also noted that "excellent progress" has been made with rippapping of the banks completed and the remaining banks sodded. He said he felt the Duecker home was safer now than before the storm.

Highway department officials joined Dr. Goddard at the flood site and discussed with Dreher and Greene Township supervisors "the discouraging" scene along the bank of the Paupack Creek.

Maintenance of the banks along the new channel is up to the town supervisors according to Clifford H. McConnell, chief of divisions of flood control, and it was generally agreed that the task is a big one.

Felled trees are now half buried in the creek bed and the banks have caved in and "will probably continue to cave in along the new channel."

Moravian Church Celebrates Newfoundland Anniversary

NEWFOUNDLAND — This week, the Moravian Church congregation celebrated its 122nd anniversary with special services at which Bishop Kenneth Hamilton was the speaker.

Founded in 1837 under the name Hopedale Moravian Church of Newfoundland, the church was the fulfillment of a dream of a band of struggling pioneers who came to this country from Baden, Germany, in order to better their conditions of living. With the help of the membership and officials of the Moravian congregation in Nazareth and Bethlehem, preaching services were started and after a few years, the congregation was fully organized on the date now celebrated, the Sunday closest to August 13.

Among the pioneer names are those of Karl Raetz, Christof Schneider, S. T. Heffele, John A. Raetz, Michael Beeher, Magdalene Beehn, Philip Eck, Charles David Wolff, Jacob Rohrbacher, Philip Able, and Christian Friebele.

Senate Bill On Schools Corrected

THE Senate bill intended to stem a subsidy loss of some nine million dollars to most Pennsylvania school districts because of the over one million dollars hike in real estate values was corrected.

The bill seeks to freeze 1957 real estate valuations as the basis for state school subsidies during the 1960-1961 school year. The year 1959 had been specified by mistake. Valuations for 1959 have not been made yet.

Made Public
The increase in real estate values was made public in the 1958 report of the State Tax Equalization Board.

Meanwhile Sen. Martin S. S. (D-Phila.) said he would introduce another rider to let the formula remain the 1958 figures but compensate the losers. The plan would be to have the state make up 75 per cent of a district's subsidy loss during the 1960-1961 school year through an outright grant. This idea was proposed last week by Gov. David L. Lawrence and will be embodied in House legislation.

Silver said his proposal, to be offered in co-authorship with Sen. Frank W. Ruth (D-Berks) would let the districts that get increases keep the higher appropriations. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are among the gaining districts.

Silver said a Philadelphia newspaper has described the "bribe" measure as a "rob Philadelphia bill."

Mediators Act To Head Off Store Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Union and management, with help from federal mediators, will make a fresh effort today to head off a strike against three big food store chains in three states.

Mediator Edwin Scott called negotiators for both sides to a meeting scheduled for 1 p.m. in the mediation and conciliation service offices.

Again, the aim is to agree on contract terms, the talking to be done by representatives of the Retail Clerks International Assn. and the Food Fair, Acme and A & P supermarket chains in eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and Delaware.

Midnight Saturday
In Philadelphia, clerks have called a strike against Food Fair for a few moments after midnight Saturday. Other locals probably would join in a walkout.

Acme and A & P, which with Food Fair bargain as a unit, have said they would close their stores in the event of a strike against Food Fair, a fourth major chain. Penn Fruit, is not affected by the dispute.

A strike would idle about 30,000 employees in 500 stores doing an estimated 70 per cent of the retail food business in the area.

Bucking the wishes of their leaders, 350 members of Philadelphia Local 1,375 of the Retail Clerks Union hooted down a new contract proposal by Food Fair and voted the Saturday night strike deadline.

The company offered a spot wage increase of $5.50 a week for assistant managers under a 32-month contract, with an additional $5 in 16 months. Clerks and other employees would get $4.50 raises at once and $4 later. Minimum pay for full-time clerks is now $73 a week.

Moravian Church Celebrates Newfoundland Anniversary

cated on Nov. 5, 1837, was outgrown and abandoned as a place of worship after sixteen years, when the second church was completed and dedicated. After 53 years of use, the second church became unsafe, and was replaced in 1908 by the present building which serves the need of the congregation.

During the 100 years, the following 28 pastors have served the congregation: George F. Troeger, L. F. Lambert, H. A. Seidel, H. F. Simon, Peter Rickacker and David Smith as assistant; G. Oehler, Charles Seidel, A. Pinckert, J. Praeger, J. F. Detterer, C. Nagel, Christian Neu, P. F. Rommel, Charles Moench, J. Wuensch, F. W. Wantzel, R. E. Clewell, J. Weinlick, A. E. Francke, Edmund Schwarze, Paul T.

Shultz, G. M. Shultz, A. J. Harke, C. N. Sperling, O. E. Moore, George F. Weinland and Dr. Fulmer.

The anniversary was highlighted by the traditional love feast at which Bishop Hamilton spoke. He noted that the feast originated in the first gatherings of the Christians after Pentecost. The early believers met and broke bread together in fellowship, thereby signifying their union and equality, fulfilling the law of Christ toward the poor, and cherishing the remembrance of His last supper with His disciples.

During the morning and evening services, a quartette including Helen Feigel, Julia Sieg, Arthur Kramer and Dr. Fulmer sang, as did a girls' trio including Rita Robacker, Donna and Diana Krautter, and also a youth choir.

ANTICIPATION OR DREAD? — Delores Dunn and Grace Lupin, who will enter East Stroudsburg Junior High School for the first time this fall, strike pensive poses on lawn in front of the building. We didn't ask what they were thinking.

(Staff Photo By MacLeod)

Just Between Us —

—By Ency Schick

Here goes! Your reading it and I admit I wrote it. "It" is exactly what this column may be called today. After returning from dinner last night I sat down to the typewriter with writing this column in mind.

When my first idea didn't appear to make much sense in print, I started into space for awhile and then, darn it, I was thinking of the things I did on my vacation.

So once again, I brought myself back to Stroudsburg and started in on another idea: that of talking about "anticipation" which is the heading for the above picture.

I rambled on for about three paragraphs, saying how we shouldn't anticipate the way man is always prone to do and spend more time not worrying about things because usually they work out for the good; although the results aren't always those anticipated by us.

However, I had anticipated that topic incorrectly for it didn't pan out. I then turned to all the inane things—playing with the paste pot. What I mean is—there was a fly all trapped in the glue. In fact, he must be nicely preserved because he has been in the jar for about two days.

It was about then that I realized that if I didn't snap out of the mental sluggishness that I would also become stagnant and not have a social page completed for today.

So I took five minutes to tell you of an hour and a half's activities. Let me not waste any more hours.

Friday And Saturday Dates Of Second Summer Art Show At Courthouse

This year's second Summer Art Show, sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Art Group will be held tomorrow and Saturday in the Courthouse Square and all adjoining streets.

Olivia Dreher, chairman and promoter of the show, has announced that this show will probably be the largest show yet. She has also said that there are exhibitors coming from towns large and small in near and far reaching areas. There are exhibitors from Stroudsburg, Bethlehem, Scranton, Easton and other little towns with names hard to pronounce.

This show is the fourteenth one held in eight years. The shows were started by Olivia Dreher and since their beginning there has been two a year with the exception of two years when it was only possible to hold one exhibit. There will be exhibits of paintings in all media and techniques. On Friday evening, from 6-9, an accordionist Orlando Capriotti of Martins Creek will be present to provide classical music.

The show which begins in the early morning will run on both days until dark. This type of exhibit gives spectators the chance to see artists demonstrating their work and offers many opportunities to pick up birthday, anniversary and Christmas gifts.

The public is invited to come and browse and at the same time the artists get an opportunity to talk with others in the field.

Mona Fitzgerald is the registrar for the show and Frank Fitzgerald will be handling place allotments.

Pennsylvania Peaches Ready For Picking Freezing Tips -- Food Marketing Trends

By Margaret MacLaren
Monroe County Extension Home Economist

It's peach picking time in Pennsylvania orchards. August has arrived with our own lush tree ripened peaches. Although, we have been enjoying peaches for several weeks now from Southern states the low point in prices will come the last week in August or early September. Now is the time for eating, canning and freezing peaches while supplies are high and prices low.

Buy By Looks

When buying peaches, the best thing to remember is that they must look good. Size and color should play an extremely important part in your choice. Make sure they are plump, and smooth skinned. Because peaches are very perishable they are picked when slightly immature. This has long presented a problem for both the grower and the housewife. Sometimes peaches may arrive on the market too green or too ripe for immediate use. The key to selecting mature peaches is to choose those which have a creamy or yellowish background color. They should be firm but not hard. Hard green peaches lack sweetness and will not ripen. Remember too that the red color or blush is not a true sign of maturity.

You may buy peaches in an open market, in a food store or at an orchard. You'll find them

Indonesian Tea Sunday At Day Camp

Mrs. Halstead Ellison will be the hostess, when she entertains at an Indonesian Tea on Sunday at 4 p.m. at Denhigh Hill Day Camp which is located at the intersection of Route 196 and Cresco Road in Paradise Valley.

A rare collection of arts, crafts and curios will be on display.

The public is cordially invited to come in and browse. Refreshments will be served and the offering received will benefit the Mount Pocono Methodist Church.

sold by the pound, the half bushel, three-fourth bushel or full bushel. The three-fourth bushel has become quite popular the last few years with growers and wholesalers. These larger containers are often an economical choice for canning or freezing. One bushel of peaches weighs about 48 pounds and makes 18 to 24 quarts of canned peaches or 32 to 48 pints of frozen fruit.

Freezing Peaches

Many varieties of freestone peaches are good for freezing, especially those with flesh that does not darken easily when exposed to air. J. H. Hale and Haven varieties, which include Hale Haven, South Haven, Red Haven and Fair Haven are considered to be slightly superior for canning and freezing because they are firmer and do not discolor as quickly as some other varieties. Regardless of the variety you buy, choose peaches that are sound, firm, ripe and juicy, with no tell-tale traces of green. For further information on canning or freezing contact your local County Agricultural Extension Office.

Food Marketing Trends

Food shoppers can expect very little change in meat prices this weekend. Meat prices have been holding steady now for the last three weeks. According to some sources in the meat industry there is no sizeable price break expected before the Labor Day holiday.

Pork cuts have held at the lower market prices noted three weeks ago even though live markets have been bobbing up and down. Pressure will continue heavy on pork prices during August as the bulk of pigs born in winter move to market. However only slight decline in

Frable-Fravel Reunion Held Over Weekend

About three hundred members of the Frable-Fravel clan attended the reunion held at the West End Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Elton Angstadt of Somersville was the speaker. Music was featured by the Ben Salem Band.

The following officers were elected for the 1960 reunion: Elwood Frable, Parryville, president; Stanley Berger and R. M. Andrews, vice president; Mrs. Clinton Craig, Slatonville, secretary; Robert Frable, Lehighton, treasurer; and Chairlady of the Prize Committee, Mrs. Carrie Felker, Effort.

prices is expected. Pork is still the leading market value but look for higher prices on hams and bacon this week.

Some retailers will no doubt offer forequarter cuts of beef at special prices this weekend but beef is expected to regain some price strength after recent wholesale drops. Spring lambs are now reaching market weight and prices will decline seasonally.

Poultry products continue to rate as a leading market value. According to recent U. S. Department of Agriculture figures the prospective turkey crop is likely to be a record, exceeding the 81 million of 1957. Wholesale prices for light weight birds are not expected to get much lower so it may be a good time to stock the freezer. Fryer prices will probably quote closer to the 35 to 43 cent market value after last week's heavy promotion. More smaller sized eggs are helping to hold back prices. However, large sizes will start to cost more soon.

Locally supplied vegetables—corn, tomatoes, cabbage, snap beans, cucumbers, peppers and potatoes rate as exceptionally good values on the prevailing low cost vegetable market.

Peaches continued as the leading fruit buy. It looks like another peak supply year for apples. Summer varieties now on the market include Summer Rambo, Wealthy's and Malden Blush. Other good fruit buys this week are pears, plums, lemons and grapes.

The Wyckoff Shopper

STROUDSBURG, PA.

Many letters arrive each day in our store . . . and of these quite a number are complimentary, thanks to the wonderful friendliness that permeates employee-customer relationships. Not all of these letters come to the attention of the personnel however, for, while they please him most sincerely, Mr. E. H. Wyckoff—the gentleman we call "Papa"—has a feeling that things might change somehow if compliments come too easily. He believes letters should be frequent enough to keep us happy . . . but infrequent enough to keep us on our toes. Every once in awhile he reminds us, during a storewide meeting, that we mustn't let bouquets turn our head . . . that there are always so many things to be improved upon, none of us can afford to sit back and bask in the sunlight of momentary approval. And he is right!

The other afternoon, Mr. Wyckoff did a somewhat unusual thing. He appeared at our store microphone a few minutes before closing time, and read a letter that had just arrived on his desk. Then he passed it along to me . . . and I am going to print it today, for I think it a well-deserved tribute to our salespeople. The text follows:

"I wish to extend to you my sincere appreciation for your store and the many pleasant hours spent shopping there.

"When we first began to visit our friends, at Marshalls Creek, several years ago, I didn't like the idea of spending Saturday morning shopping. That wasn't my idea of why people went to the mountains. But, to be so sociable, I went along. Now I actually look forward to this well-established ritual, and even come in to look around more often if I get the chance.

"One of the main things about your store that I like, is the mature, friendly salespersons. Much better than the young, flip ones you find in so many stores.

"All in all, I would say that Wyckoff's is truly "the friendly store."

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) Jane Barton

Mrs. Barton, we ALL thank you for writing. In truth, however, we must admit that the attitude of the salesperson is, more frequently than not, a reflection of the customer's own attitude. It follows that it is easy to be pleasant and obliging when the customers themselves are as friendly and nice as so very many of our Wyckoff customers are!

One of those who commented on the high caliber and niceness of our Wyckoff customers (and residents of this area in general) was Pat Nazzo, who, with her husband, Joe, departed last weekend after more than a week in our jewelry department. During their stay they sold hundreds of beautiful rings, which were literally "gobbled up" by both men and women hungry for glitter and glamour. Pat tells me they will return in November, so that all of you can buy exciting Christmas gifts with a Cartier-look and a reasonable Wyckoff price tag. Do save your pennies—a quarter now and then for a jewel-treat, and be waiting!

Mrs. Violet VanWhy

Additional Guests

Accidentally in last week's write up of the bridal shower held for Ann Fralley of Bartonsville, the following people were not mentioned as having attended: Joyce Werkheiser, Betty Halstead, Barbara Armistage, Myrtle Pipher and Dawn Woodling.

Signal Depot Marksman Has Perfect Score

TOBYHANNA — A Tobyhanna Signal Depot sergeant, who joined the post's pistol team for something to do last winter, has shot his way into the ranks of top Army contenders.

SFC Robert Burkholder, on depot assignment since July 1958, outfired 475 military and civilian marksmen from five states and the District of Columbia in matches held in Allentown recently.

He scored 300 out of a possible 300 with the .22 caliber pistol in the Fifth Annual Allentown Police Pistol Tournament.

Ninety-Nine Teams

A total of 99 police and civilian teams were entered from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C.

This was the second official match for Burkholder, who began firing in regular competition at Fort Gordon, Ga., last May. There, at the Chief Signal Officer's Matches, he helped the depot's squad sweep 22 individual and team trophies.

At the Allentown matches, Burkholder outfired Capt. Ernest Kelly, captain of the depot's team and a recent Army All-European champ. Kelly shot a near-perfect 297.

Burkholder himself can't really account for his phenomenal success as a pistol shooter. "Maybe it's because I don't get nervous," he says. "I've been in the Army too long for that."

The sergeant, who is 32, joined the Army in November 1945, shortly after his graduation from high school in Kenton, Ohio.

During his high school days, he played center on the Kenton football squad for three years.

Overseas with the Army, he continued to play football with Signal Corps teams in Germany and Austria.

Nowadays, besides his pistol shooting, Burkholder is a member of the depot's bowling league. His average is 176, and he holds the league's record for high series — 637 for three games.

The sergeant's bowling has come in for some criticism from Capt. Kelly. The captain would like to see Burkholder concentrate on pistol shooting.

Prediction
"I predict great things for him," Capt. Kelly says. "He seems a natural-born champ. He's got good spirit, is in good physical condition, and has a steady arm and eye."

Strangely, Burkholder's vision was almost seriously damaged two years ago when he was stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga.

In charge of a supply room that was being painted at the time, his eyes absorbed paint fumes that caused inflammation and cracks in the eyeballs. He was hospitalized for several weeks.

A career soldier, Burkholder expects to be reassigned to Korea in the Fall. The only thing about that he doesn't like is that he won't be able to take his wife and two daughters with him. There are no quarters for military dependents in Korea.

But his pistol shooting will go on. According to Capt. Kelly, there are lots of Army pistol teams in Korea.

SFC Robert Burkholder, who started shooting pistols in Tobyhanna for something to do, will have lots more time to sharpen his skill.

"The results," Capt. Kelly says, "may make pistol history."

Fisheries Committee To Meet

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House fisheries Committee will hold a public hearing in Erie next week, Chairman William B. Curwood (D-Luzerne) said Wednesday.

The hearing will be part of the committee's investigation into the decline in sales of fishing licenses the past few years.

A five-member group from the committee will sit in the Erie Court House Friday night, Aug. 28, (7 p.m. EDT) to hear the views of fishermen from that area. Curwood said the group also would visit the state fish hatchery at Bellefonte, Aug. 27, to check fish commission stocking practices there.

State Hatchery
Curwood said meanwhile, the committee plans to see if the fish commission can't be persuaded to reopen the state hatchery at Erie.

The committee opened its investigation with a public hearing here Tuesday. Curwood said there probably would be another public hearing here after the Erie meeting to wind up the investigation.

Besides Curwood, Reps. Peter G. Schaaf (D-Erie), Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield), James E. Willard (R-Mercer) and Ruth S. Donahue (R-Clinton) will make the Erie trip.

Minors Serve 'Damages' Notices To Third Major

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Heads of the high minors served notice Wednesday on Branch Rickey and his embryo Continental League to be ready to pay damages amounting to approximately $8,000,000 for invasion of their territories.

Ed Doherty, president of the American Assn., which may lose six of its ten franchises to the newly organized would-be major circuit, said he already has demanded a million dollars indemnity for each of the cities taken. Houston, Denver and the twin cities of Minneapolis-St. Paul, all members of the A.A., are among the five founders of the Continental League. The new league also is eyeing the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Toronto of the International League and New York also are definitely in the new loop.

Protect Own
"If they (Continental League) think they can operate — and I wish them luck," said Doherty, "let them pay for the privilege. I've got to protect the people who have investments in my league. I don't think anybody has the right to demand territory without paying for the privilege of using

"if they take those six cities away from us, the American Assn. is dead. I'd have only four clubs for a nucleus of another league."

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, said he would ask for approximately a million dollars for Toronto and the possible loss of another of his cities, either Montreal or Buffalo.

Will Have To Spend
"They claim they've got millions," said the silver-haired veteran of more than 50 years in baseball. "Well, they'd better get ready to spend some of it."

"I wish them all the luck in the world—they'll need it. And I sincerely hope they succeed. But if they take any of our cities, there certainly would have to be an indemnity."

Leslie O'Connor, president of the Pacific Coast League said the new league would try to get the best cities and "they can expect to pay substantial compensation."

Johansson At News Of Dempsey
NEW YORK (AP)—As Ingemar Johansson was expressing surprise at the news Jack Dempsey had joined Rosenzohn Enterprises, Inc., and also reiterating his statement his title fight contract was with Bill Rosenzohn "personally," two new figures popped into the heavy-weight picture Wednesday.

Jack (Doc) Kearns said he and his light heavyweight champion, Archie Moore, would leave in about a week for Stockholm and personally present their million dollar offer to Johansson for a fight with Moore.

"We're going to London to see Jack Solomons (British fight promoter) and then to Stockholm to see Johansson and Eddie Advquist (the champion's adviser)," Kearns said.

Million For Ince
"That million is Johansson's end for a fight with Archie. He can take it in dollars or kroners. We're prepared to put the dough right into a Swedish bank or anywhere he wants. I still say this fight can draw between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 with the gate, theater and arena TV and movies thrown in."

Meanwhile, Johansson, who completed an exhibition tour in Copenhagen Tuesday, expressed surprise at Dempsey's appointment and said he could not "judge the merits of the case as far as a return bout is concerned until I have studied all details in this connection."

With Rosenzohn
It was at a press conference Tuesday that the champion said his contract for a return bout with Floyd Patterson was with Rosenzohn personally and not with Rosenzohn Enterprises, Inc., Rosenzohn, who promoted the first fight, no longer is with the corporation. Johansson knocked out Patterson in the third round of their first meeting.

He also said the date of Sept. 22 was "out of the question" for the return match because he had not received his share of the gate and other earnings from the first fight.

Golf Pros Seek Jackpot
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Golfdom's top tourists hit the 34th stop on their million-dollar countrywide jaunt Thursday with a wide open fight in prospect in the sixth annual $22,000 Rubber City Open.

Nineteen of the top 25 money winners are in the field which includes four National Open, seven PGA and four Masters champions.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., the year's big money man with $48,499, is the defending titleholder, and he could slip over the $50,000 mark for the year by picking up the $2,800 top prize.

Fiery Tommy Bolt and Arnold Palmer, also former winners, will be trying again.

Doug Ford is tagged as the favorite. The Crystal River, Fla. pro has been in the money in his last 28 tournaments and in 107 of the last 110, reaching back to 1956. He has finished in all places from one to 11 this year and was second in last week's Motor City event when Mike Souckach ran away from the field. Souckach is one of this week's absentees here.

The tournament is scheduled over Firestone Country Club's par-71 course of 6,535 yards where next year's PGA will be staged. The field plays 18 holes of medal play through four consecutive days, winding up Sunday.

'S' Club To Meet
VARSITY "S" Club of Stroudsburg will meet at the Stroudsburg Municipal Building today, starting at 8 p.m.

Moore TKOs Bassey Challenger Refuses To Answer Bell

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore retained his title Wednesday night when he stopped Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in the 11th round of a scheduled 15-round fight.

Moore, 126, had the ex-champion in bad shape at the close of the 10th round and Bassey, 125, was unable to come out for the 11th.

It goes into the record as an 11th-round knockout because the bell had sounded before the fight was stopped.

Moore, of Springfield, Ohio, dethroned Bassey for the title when he stopped him in 13 rounds in this same Olympic Auditorium last March 18.

Bassey's right eye was badly swollen and bruised from the machine-gun-fire left hooks and jabs. The ex-champion also suffered a cut at the corner of the left eyebrow in the second round. He bled but did not hamper his efforts too much.

The 25-year-old Yankee went all out in the 10th to score a clean knockout.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—An Australian horsebreeder Wednesday refused $840,000 for a stallion that cost him only $2,940 five years ago. Carl Powell, owner of Rego, said one of the main reasons would be the tax on his profits. Powell said that Rego, a son of the famed Nasrullah and the sire of Mr. Wiggle now racing in the United States, was being sought by a U.S. syndicate. He did not identify its members.

Poconos To Coast Fund Passes Quarter Of Goal

SEND THE Poconos Softball Team to the West Coast Fund Drive flew by the one-quarter mark of its goal yesterday as an official day's returns totalled $125. The new financial addition pushed the campaign total to $674.15.

The drive to financially back the Twin City Poconos in their quest for world softball honors in the International Congress Tournament at Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 30 to Sept. 7 now has taken the team past "one quarter of the way" to their established $2500 journey to California.

Fighting against time
The committee in charge of the campaign to bring the Poconos to California, will add new fervor today in high hopes of going past the halfway mark by the end of the week.

Yesterday Twin City Pocono team officials wired its $100 entrance to International Congress World Headquarters at Greeley, Colo.

Daily Report
The day by day report shows $122.05 taken in the first day; $109, the second; $183.10, the third; $135, the fourth; and $125, yesterday.

The fund drive has to average a little over $200 a day for the next eight days to reach its goal of $2500. For the 13 days the drive will be in existence, a norm of $192 a day was needed to reach the official mark.

The drive has been averaging $134.83 daily thus far and if it continues the sum reached will be $1752.79 at the deadline.

Yesterday's Contributors
Yesterday contributions came from the Italian Mutual Benefit Association Club, Frank Wilder, East Stroudsburg National Bank, Marlene Alliger, Cash Major, J. R. Lesoine Trucking, C. A. Nauman's Sporting Goods, Floyd Kellogg Insurance, Fraternal Order of Eagles of Stroudsburg, and Scavo's Barber Shop.

Also donating yesterday were Hawthorne Inn, Pocono Mountain Inn in the Sky, Rudy's Bar and Grill, Brass Rail, Evan Chaplin, Town Tavern, Happy Hour Bar, Donald Kemmerer, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Ashton.

The Olmedo Buchholz duo knocked off Allen Fox of Los Angeles and Larry Nagler of North Hollywood, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Veteran Billy Talbert and Ens, John Lesch pulled a minor upset, dropping the English team of Tony Pickard and Robert Wilson 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

Crucial Tilt In MS Today
A CRUCIAL battle which will decide the seasonal championship will be played in the Monroe Softball League today at the Stroudsburg playground field. The clash pits Nebel's Market against Tobyhanna Signal Depot. Game time is 6:15 p.m.

Both the Marketmen and Depot are tied for first place with 14-4 records. Each team will have one more game to play before the curtain rings down on the regular campaign.

Probable Pitchers
Johnny Heckman will probably pitch for Nebel's while Bill (Jeeter) Lester will be his mound foe.

Chase Shaw
The Orioles made things easy for O'Dell by scoring two first-inning runs and then chasing Bob Shaw, the Sox starter, in the third inning. Shaw had won six games in a row.

After his departure, Ray Moore, Turk Lown, Ken McBride and Gerry Staty held the Orioles in check, but the Sox could not mount an offense. Their lone run was Sherm Lollar's 18th homer in the eighth inning.

The defeat cut the Sox lead over second place Cleveland to four games and the Indians had an opportunity to trim another half game by defeating Washington Wednesday night.

A half hour before Wright holed out, his father, Denver contractor Claude Wright, defeated Wilson Choeffoff of Dallas 2-up.

Other victims of opening round ambushes included Don Massengale of Jacksonville, Texas, 4 and 2 loser to Jim Nordine, Duluth, Minn., and Dick Foote of Santa Ana, Calif., beaten by Minneapolis Len Bjorklund 1-up.

26,500,000 Keglers
NEW YORK (AP)—The bowling population of the United States is an estimated 26,500,000, a Chicago manufacturer said Wednesday, with men outnumbering the women by only 2 to 3. R. E. Bensinger, head of a firm which specializes in making bowling equipment, said projected figures showed that 35,000,000 Americans would be bowling in 1966. He estimated that in 1946 only 12,500,000 participated.

ROSE PLANS TO QUIT
TOKYO (AP)—Australian swimmer Murray Rose said Wednesday he will quit competition after the 1960 Olympic Games, and maybe before. Rose, who has some nice things to say about Japanese womanhood, added that he would have to train hard for Olympic competition, and is reluctant to take time out from his radio-television studies at the University of Southern California. He competed here as a guest in the recent series of meets between United States and Japanese swimmers.

Army's Chief Of Staff Leading Speaker At Dedication Of Flood Control Structure

Also speaking briefly at the dedication was Brig. Gen. Clarence Renshaw, assistant chief of Engineers, Military Construction branch, who was in charge of the Philadelphia district when the plans for the dam were drawn up.

Gen. Renshaw said the Dyberry Dam, plus the Prompt Dam to be completed in 1960, will prevent 96 percent of the possible destruction capable by the area streams if they were not controlled.

A high degree of economic justification will be realized also, he said, since the dam will save about $1.80 for each dollar invested in its construction.

Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of Forests and Waters, spoke following Gen. Renshaw, and he cited the work of the Army engineers in building the dam.

Goddard spoke of the Delaware River Basin Survey now being made by the engineers, and said this report will show the flood control work is not over, but just really starting.

Goddard said that each particular dam built will be for a specific purpose, such as recreation, storing water as reservoirs and for dry, flood control, purposes.

Pointing out the fact the Delaware Basin produces some 20 percent of the nation's economy, Goddard said the conservation of the area must be maintained.

The closing speech was made by Wayne County President Judge Clarence E. Bodie, who paid tribute to the efficiency of the engineers in the short span of time needed for the construction.

Gen. Lemnitzer and George S. Williams Sr., present chairman of the Honesdale Flood Control Committee, unveiled a plaque dedicated to those persons who had lost their lives in the several floods in that area.

smoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR† Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Elks Assn. will award college scholarships worth $20,000 at a student aid luncheon next Monday.

Ruel H. Smith of Warren, co-chairman of the convention, said the awards, ranging from $500 to $1,000 for each individual, will be presented to outstanding and needy students from all parts of Pennsylvania.

The scholarship winners include: Peggy Hoover, Lehighton.

Conferees Report Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate House conferees reported progress after their first meeting recently to iron out differences between labor control bills passed by the Senate and House.

Rep. Graham A. Barden (D-NC), chairman of the House conferees, told newsmen he saw no reason to deadlock and expressed hope agreement could be reached by the end of the week.

Chief Sponsor
Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief sponsor of the Senate measure, said "we are making progress." But he didn't attempt to forecast when a compromise would be worked out.

Barden and Kennedy said general agreement was reached on the first section establishing a bill of rights for union members and that work was started on the second section requiring detailed financial reporting.

The most controversial differences between the Senate and House bills are in other sections relating to organizational picketing, secondary boycotts and other changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

Stroud Union To Extend Programs

STROUD Union High School will extend its language, science, shop and math programs this year, Principal Alfred W. Munson has announced. Students will find three years of both Latin and French offered during the coming academic year. Munson said the school hopes to increase instruction in both these languages to four full years in the near future.

The school's application for the installation of language laboratory equipment, including control consoles and individual booths for instruction, has been approved under the National Defense Education Act, he added.

Munson expects the heaviest science load in the school's history this year. Science will be required of all students in grades seven through 10. Elective offerings for grades 11 and 12 will be increased. Five full sections in chemistry, two in physics, two in advanced biology and one in junior science will be available for juniors and seniors.

Shop Program
For the first time the school will be able to offer a shop program in grades 10 through 12. Offerings have been limited up until now.

Students with high aptitude in shop work will be able to have the minimum required time in grades seven through nine and a double period each day in grades 10 through 12, Munson said.

Girls who elect the vocational home economics program as their major field will have a double period of instruction each day of the school year in grades nine through 12.

Besides the usual instruction in solid geometry, trigonometry and advanced algebra for 21st grade math students, there will also be a separate half year course this year in advanced math, Munson revealed.

M. Jackie Reap, son of Mrs. Loretta Reap, has enrolled at the University of Scranton where he will take a course in business administration. He graduated from Stroud Union High School.

Mrs. Lillian Stover, Mrs. Francis Kutachel and Mrs. Marion Shannon, have been spending three weeks visiting their brother-in-law, Fred Hopper, at his home here.

Uniform Science Course To Be Placed In Operation

A UNIFORM science program throughout all the grades in all seven of Stroud Union School District elementary buildings will be put into operation this year, Elementary Supervising Principal Roger A. Dunning has announced.

The new program is the result of two years of study by a faculty committee. A basic text workbook will be used for the first time, Dunning said.

Instruction will be given through the scope of topics and sequence of learning method.

Sixth graders will also be offered a new social studies course on Latin America, Dunning said.

The addition to the curriculum completes a four-year revision program to bring the elementary curriculum up to the course of study in social studies as prescribed by the state.

Requests Approved
Dunning said that all elementary requests for teaching materials under the National Defense Education Act have been approved. The request covered $1,675 of math and science equipment, film strips and reference reading. The materials will be divided among the seven elementary buildings.

A second ungraded class in special education will be held in Clearview School this year, Dunning said. Mrs. Lucy Warner, who taught at Hamilton School last year, will instruct the new class.

A faculty committee will begin this year to study the language art program. An eventual revision of reading, spelling and English instruction is anticipated, Dunning said.

Emphasis by the committee this year will be on the language phase of the program.

Teaching Roles — The total enrollment for kindergarten through eighth grade will be 460 pupils, with nine Nuns scheduled to assume teaching roles.

In the high school Rev. Richard Loper, principal, has announced that six full-time and two part-time teachers will be employed for the 198 students in grades nine to 12.

2,194 To Attend School At Bangor

BANGOR — Eighty-four teachers will report Tuesday, Sept. 8 to prepare classrooms in the Bangor Area Joint School System for the influx of 2,194 pupils who will converge the following day and begin a 190 school term.

Barring unforeseen circumstances, it may be the last year in the present Bangor High School for those entering their junior year. Present plans call for completing a new two million dollar senior high school in Upper Mount Bethel Township in time for the 1960-61 session.

Bangor High School, already taxed to the limit with pupils, will house 910 in grades seven to 12 for the 1959-60 term. The school was built for 550.

Six other buildings in the districts, three in Bangor, one each in Portland, Washington Township and Roseto, will handle the remaining 1,285 students in kindergarten through sixth grade.

New Assignments
Six new teaching assignments have been announced by Donald B. Keat, superintendent of schools. Only two of the six will be considered additions to the staff. The others are replacements for those on leave and for one who died during the last school term.

The new teachers are Miss Janice Kennedy, a graduate of Moravian College who will teach junior high school English, and Mrs. Virginia Wynne, Bangor, a graduate of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, who will become a high school English teacher and be the secondary school corrective reading instructor.

Charles W. Corley, a Nazarene Church minister who taught seventh grade social studies in Bangor High School last year, has been reassigned to Washington Township school. He graduated from Elizabethtown College.

Paul Peters, Bangor, is joining the Washington Township staff. He graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, taught one year in Berks County and last year was on the faculty at Pen Argil elementary school.

Mrs. Barbara LaFenty will join the high school faculty as a chemistry teacher succeeding the late Granville Evans. She is a graduate of Goucher College and has been in private industry.

Robert LaPenna, Bangor, an East Stroudsburg State Teachers College graduate, is being transferred from Washington Township school to teach junior high school social studies.

Keat said the kindergarten to six grade enrollment will be 1,231, with an additional 53 assigned to special classes. The six junior-senior high school grades will have 881 students, with an additional 30 in special class.

Forty-nine other children living in the six districts comprising the jointure, will be attending high schools outside the Bangor area. Another 315 students from Lower Mt. Bethel Township will be attending Centerfield school in Martins Creek on a tuition basis, the same practice followed in previous years.

Keat says the school has adopted a 190-day schedule, although, as in previous years, the total days will probably be cut before the term ends because of days off in the winter when driving conditions cancel bus schedules.

Tentative Plan

Tentative plans call for the closing of school on June 17. Keat says the policy for cafeteria has not yet been established, but in all probability no meals will be served in any of the schools on the opening day. Efforts will be made to serve meals on Thursday, Sept. 9, the day after school opens. Keat says this arrangement, too, could be changed and then the cafeteria would open officially on Monday, Sept. 14. The decision is expected to be made Sept. 2 when the joint school committee meets.

John W. Sabatine, elementary supervisor, says 104 pupils already are enrolled for kindergarten, 10 more than last year. The breakdown shows 70 from Bangor, 15 from Washington Twp., 10 from Roseto, 5 from Upper Mt. Bethel Twp. and 4 from Portland.

First grade enrollment of 177 is the same as last year, with 40 each in the Portland and Washington schools, 33 each in the Lincoln and McKinley buildings in Bangor, 18 in Roosevelt building, Bangor, and 13 in Columbus school, Roseto.

Death Toll Cut

ROME (AP) — Stricter laws and sterner enforcement drastically cut the death toll on Italy's traditional mid-August holiday weekend-Ferragosto. Police report eight million cars on the road during the weekend killed 39 persons, compared with five and one-half million cars and 71 deaths last year.

Ancient Granite Steps

POSSIBLY the oldest stair cases existing are the ancient granite steps up the sacred mountain of Tai Shan in China. But the oldest stairs, on which dates or origin have been definitely established, are stairs in Egypt which date from the second millennium B.C.

PREPARING BUSES — Workmen complete checkup on six school buses operated by Tom and Anthony J. Patti of Portland which provide transportation for pupils attending schools in or traveling from Upper Mount Bethel Township, Portland, East Stroudsburg and Bangor. Complete overhaul of the vehicles took two months.

2,000 Students Expected At E. S.

A TOTAL enrollment of slightly over 2,000 students is expected this fall in the East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools, the office of Carl T. Secor, supervising principal announced.

The Elementary School enrollment will be about 988, the Junior High total about 470 and the Senior High enrollment about 465. Added to this last are slightly over 100 students from the Bangor Area Joint Schools.

A breakdown of the Elementary schools shows East Stroudsburg will have about 603 pupils, the Bushkill-Middle Smithfield School 151, and the Smithfield School about 234.

The special class in East Stroudsburg will total about 20 pupils.

Sixteen Sections
In the Junior High, Principal Theodore Miller reported a total of 16 sections will be used: six in the Seventh Grade, and five each in the Eighth and Ninth.

Feltham Completes Study In Summer College Course

JUSTIN Carroll Feltham, a teacher in Barrett Township High School, has completed a six-week stay on the Franklin and Marshall College campus, Lancaster, as a participant in the National Science Foundation Institute here.

Feltham was enrolled as a student in the Biology section of the Institute.

Ninety-one secondary school teachers representing 12 states participated in the Institute. For six weeks the teachers attended classes daily in their special areas of mathematics, chemistry, physics, or biology.

The emphasis in National Science Foundation Institute is on "up-dating" the teacher—providing the teacher with experience and knowledge of the most recent advances in a field of knowledge.

In addition, the Franklin and Marshall Institutes devoted part of their program to discussions of needed curriculum changes in secondary school science and mathematics instruction, the use of television in presenting science to teenagers, and methods by which older teachers can help younger teachers to solve the problems they face in the classroom.

Middle Smithfield School — Miss Verna Blakeslee, grade six, graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, 1959.

Smithfield School—Mrs. Thelma Clark, grade three, graduate of Millersville State Teachers College, one year's experience at Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Mildred Munson, grade five, graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, 10 years' experience, and Michael Jacobella, grade six, graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College with master's degree from Lehigh, taught at East Stroudsburg, Stroudsburg, and Hunterdon, N. J., prior to this change.

New teachers at the Junior High School include:

Mrs. Walter Olenick, health education; Harry Newkirk, developmental reading program instructor; Henry Peters Jr., ninth grade general science.

The office of Senior High School Principal Ralph Burrows reported there will be no new teachers at that school.

The In-Service Program for Elementary teachers will be held on the following dates:

Wednesday, Oct. 21, a half-day session on social studies and curriculum work; Tuesday, Nov. 17, a half-day session on science and curriculum work; Friday, Feb. 19, full day session on language arts, choral speaking, creative writing, demonstrations, discussions with outside specialists; Thursday, March 17, half-day session on language arts, "listening"; Monday, April 4, half-day session on language arts and speaking.

Building meetings will be held on the study and evaluation of language arts books for the selection of the series for adoption.

The calendar for the 1959-1960 school year shows the following:

Tuesday, Sept. 8, 10 a.m. teachers orientation.

Wednesday, Sept. 9, school begins.

Friday, Sept. 25, Teachers Institute.

Wednesday, Nov. 11, Veterans Day, school closes at 11 a.m.

Wednesday, Nov. 25, Thanksgiving vacation starts.

Monday, Nov. 30, Thanksgiving vacation ends.

Wednesday, Dec. 23, Christmas recess begins.

Monday, Jan. 4, Christmas recess ends.

Wednesday, April 13, Easter recess begins.

Wednesday, April 20, Easter recess ends.

Sunday, June 12, Baccalaureate.

Tuesday, June 14, School closes.

775 Pupils Expected At Jointure

BRODHEADSVILLE — Four new teachers and about 775 students will be attending Pleasant Valley Jointure when school starts Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Some 410 elementary and secondary students will be at Chestnuthill High School and another 365 at Polk High School, the school principals said. This represents an increase of about 20 at each school.

The jointure will add a special education class to its curriculum this year.

Joining the staff, according to Supervising Principal John C. Mills, will be Samuel R. Patinka, music instructor at Chestnuthill High School. He holds a degree from Ithaca College of Music, N. Y.

Warren W. Wayler will head the math department at Chestnuthill. An eight-year fighter pilot veteran, he holds a degree from Syracuse University.

Marie Lorchak, a graduate of Penn State University, will be the home economics teachers at Polk High School.

Special Education

Heading the new special education class will be Mrs. Nevin Dorsheimer. She has degrees in music and elementary education and 12 years of teaching experience, five of them in a nursery.

Mills said the special education class will be held in the Guild Hall at Gilbert. The community room there will be equipped with bathroom facilities, oil heat, storm windows, a drinking fountain, blackboard space and desks.

Last year the jointure sent five of its special education children to Bath and about half a dozen to the Day Care Training Center in Stroudsburg.

Mills said school cafeterias will be open Sept. 8. Chestnuthill High School faculty will hold a pre-school meeting Friday, Sept. 4 at 8 p.m. The Polk faculty will meet Friday, Aug. 28 at 9 a.m., Principal Harry Young revealed.

Adventist School Sets Opening Date

FORTY-ONE pupils, including three eighth grade seniors, will attend the Seventh Day Adventist elementary school on W. Main St., Stroudsburg, this year, Principal T. E. Banks said.

He and his wife are the school's two teachers. Classes will begin Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Banks said a lunch program may be added this year. Although plans have not materialized so far, the school is equipped with a kitchen and other necessary facilities.

Students in grades five through eight will be taught history and civics this year, he said. On alternate years children in these grades are given instruction in history and geography and history and civics.

Students are taught the same courses as public school pupils, with the addition of Bible instruction. The same text books are used, Banks said.

This year's school day will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Bus transportation is provided.

The local school is one of more than 4,000 educational institutions operated by the denomination which enables children and youth to obtain a complete education from first grade to graduate and professional levels.

Last year Adventists invested over $15,000,000 toward Christian education in the United States alone. The system has grown out of a belief in the importance of religious education.

Mrs. Leslie Drake, is chairman of the local school board. Mrs. James Banks is director of Home and School Assn., and Pastor Milton T. Reiber is spiritual advisor.

Laughs Plentiful In Production Of 'Gigi' At Ross Common

Strike Hits Other Fields

ROSS COMMON—Ross Common Playhouse is presenting this week a production of "Gigi," designed to evoke every possible laugh. The result is one of the most delightful nights of the Summer.

Gigi's grand aunt is set on launching her into the Paris society of 1900, just the way our armed forces launch rockets, with meticulous preparation and a regular countdown. She is abetted by Gigi's grandmother, a woman of lesser experience.

But Gigi, who likes to wear sailor dresses, will have none of it. "I don't want to be a lady," she says as she playfully knocks to the floor and wrestles with Gaston, a man famous for his past mistresses. Gigi prefers to play cards with Gaston.

Amnesty Granted

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno granted amnesty to 6,838 criminal prisoners and ordered the immediate release of 5,761 more in commemoration of the country's 14th independence day.

Much to the surprise of the scheming old woman, Gigi and Gaston finally agree, not to form an alliance, but to marry, and not for money, but for love. A scandal, almost!

For this is a play about the problem of marriage—a comic problem play—in which only ordinary people marry. "We don't marry at first but at last," the grand aunt says.

Played up for its laughs is the superfluous part of Gigi's mother, a rather second rate chorus girl in the theater who is always practicing for a great singing role she hopes to get. Play adapter Anita Loos could have left this part out without any loss to the essential humor of the story.

Guest star Madeleine de Leu Pettit adds laughs to the play through her interpretation of the grand aunt. A sense of humor shows through her imperiousness as she coaches Gigi on the ways of society.

Dressed as a grand dowager in rouge, lace and jewelry, she delivers herself with pomposity and an eager gleam in her eye. Only at times does she choose to emphasize the tough side of the grand aunt who is dead serious on backing a social success, the grand aunt who can be very subtle rather than too blunt sometimes.

As Gigi, guest star Gennie Phillips displays a face full of expressiveness which conveys exact emotions. She has complete control over her role and never falters as she interprets the different aspects of Gigi—a green weed of a growing girl, a girl absorbed in the glitter of her aunt's rings, a young woman insulted by a proposal of love from Paris' number one loose lover.

In a word, she is vibrant.

Playing Gaston, the young man who refuses to take Gigi seriously until he is propositioned by the grand aunt, is Richard Turnall. He is witty, sophisticated and a diplomat to the aunts, teasing and indignant toward Gigi.

Mark up another good performance for him.

Playing Gigi's mother, is Dorothy Rector. She is funny as she gets in the way of the older women, gargles for her voice and sings at the drop of a note.

Johnnie Gruver is equally funny as Gigi's bumbling grandmother who aspires to the successful campaigns of the grand aunt.

Others in the cast include Wil Albert, as the grand aunt's butler, and Caryl Greene as Sidonie, the maid who tries to catch Gaston's eye.

Of these, 21,587 are from non-manufacturing industries and 7,909 from manufacturing industries.

Another 12,827 railroad workers are jobless as a result of the strike.

Some 3,000 workers in non-steel industries became unemployed since last week. Some

2,960 Children To Attend Stroud Union

AN ESTIMATED 2,960 students are expected to be on hand when Stroud Union School District begins its 1959-1960 academic year Wednesday, Sept. 9. Last year's high school student body of 1,035 will increase to 1,170, Principal Alfred W. Munson said.

This will put the high school, built for about 950 pupils, more than 200 over capacity. To handle this increase Munson said a new school day, including eight instead of seven periods, will go into effect this year.

School will start at 8:30 a.m. each day and end at 3:34 p.m., instead of 3:10 p.m. This will allow for eight 45-minute periods plus lunch time for each student. Student enrollment in the district's seven elementary school buildings will be 1,790 this year, Elementary Supervising Principal Roger A. Dunning said. Last year's was 1,750.

Professional Employees
The district will employ 124 professional employees, including teachers, nurses and psychologists. The high school staff will include 54 of these.

Pen Argyl Enrollment To Rise By Over 200 Pupils

PEN ARGYL—Enrollment figures for the Pen Argyl Area Joint Schools are expected to show a rise of 200 or more pupils during the term beginning Sept. 9, Supervising Principal William E. Muth reported yesterday.

On the basis of a preliminary study, he said, close to 2,000 are expected to enroll on the opening day of school. This compares with last year's peak enrollment of 1,782 pupils.

The biggest problem facing school administrators is in finding quarters for the 186 pupils entering the seventh grade. Ten sections make up the seventh and eighth grades, and eight of these will be housed in the McKinley and Garfield buildings.

The other two will enroll at the high school building, along with ninth through 12th grades. Elementary schools are located at Wind Gap and Plainsfield Township, in addition to McKinley and Garfield buildings.

Dr. Muth explained that the overcrowded condition will be relieved when the new school is completed for the start of the 1961 term.

Five new teaching positions have been added for the coming term. Heading the list is an area elementary principal, a position to be filled by William Wunsche.

Kindergarten Teacher

Others being added include one kindergarten teacher, a junior high school guidance director, a science teacher and a social studies teacher, also in the junior high.

Fifty-three children have enrolled in the new kindergarten in Plainsfield Township, also 64 at Pen Argyl and 46 at Wind Gap.

Dr. Muth said the term will extend 184 days, the same as last year. The calendar: Sept. 8, teachers report; Sept. 9, pupils report; Oct. 29-30, county institute; Nov. 11, closed, Veterans Day; Nov. 27-28, Thanksgiving recess.

Christmas vacation begins Dec. 23 at the close of afternoon session and ends Jan. 4; Feb. 22, closed, Washington's Birthday; April 13, Easter recess begins at the close of afternoon session and ends April 19. Memorial Day will be observed May 30 and the term closes June 15.

Committee Changes Idea On Interest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee, in a surprise reversal of an earlier vote, recently pigeonholed President Eisenhower's urgent request for authority to raise interest rates on long-term government bonds.

By voting 14-11 to table the legislation, the committee virtually killed all chances of its passage during this session.

All votes for the motion were cast by Democrats. It was opposed by all 10 Republicans on the 25-member committee and by one Democrat, Rep. Burr P. Harrison of Virginia.

Depositionment

The committee's action was denounced by Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, senior Republican of the group, as "incredible folly." Failure to approve the legislation this year, he said, would be an invitation to unrestrained inflation.

Eisenhower has made repeated public pleas that Congress remove the 4 1/2 per cent interest ceiling on long-term bonds, those that mature in five years or later. The Treasury said this must be done if the government is to compete in a money market where other borrowers are willing to pay more. The legislation sidetracked Tuesday was only a compromise with what Eisenhower wanted.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your fortune. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Children Enter Into Fun At Borough Playgrounds

LAST ONE IN'S A MONKEY—And most of these youngsters enjoying the swimming pool at East Stroudsburg Playground are in. Doesn't that water look cool and refreshing, though? How do you like the fancy dive?

UPSY DAISY—Young teeter-totter fan at Stroudsburg Playground gets helping hand from older companion as she bounces up and down.

TIME OUT FOR GUM—Pat Albert, life guard at the swimming pool at East Stroudsburg Playground, contentedly blows bubble gum during dull period in activities there.

IT'S A BIRD, IT'S A PLANE—Nope, it's superman. Or at least that seems to be the effect David Keiper, six, seems to be trying to create as he climbs one of the East Stroudsburg Playground's pieces of equipment. The cape is actually a towel to be used after swimming.

HERE IT COMES—Headed right for the camera is the disc used in a shuffleboard game. This game is one among the many varied games and pieces of equipment available for use at Stroudsburg Playground. There are also swings, merry go rounds, swinging hoops, see saws, jungle-gyms and organized sports events.

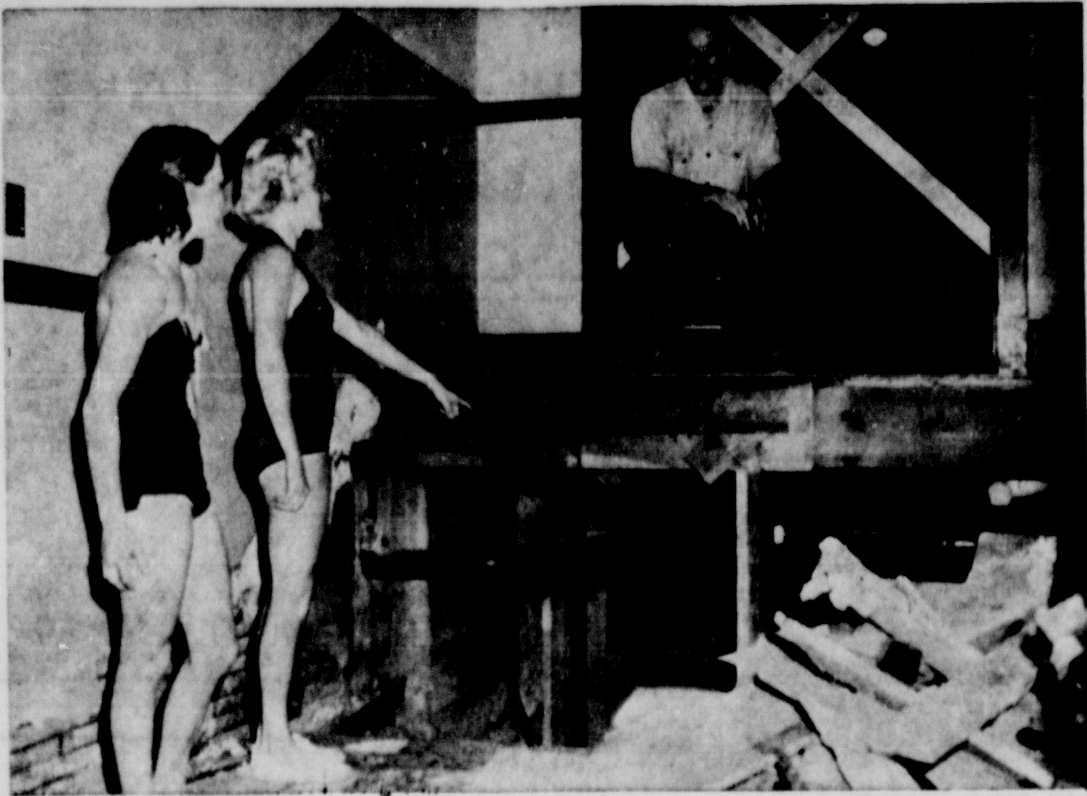

ANYONE FOR BADMINTON?—Popular place at Stroudsburg Playground is the badminton court, being put to vigorous use by this group of youngsters. More sedentary group sits under beach umbrella and watches.

WHAT'S IT?—That was the comment these three boys greeted our photographer with as he went over to see what they had in the can. It turned out to be something resembling a crayfish. The boys, (left to right) Jamie Stetler, John McAllister and Bobbie Stetler, all of Stroudsburg, found this "creature" in the stream that runs by the Stroudsburg Playground.

CLOSING STAIR WELL — Joan Salzer, a junior at Pocono Township High School, points to abandoned stair well which is being closed to comply with fire laws. Looking on are Jackie Stewart, a ninth grade pupil, and Neal Grover, chief custodian, at the Tannersville school.

Mystery Show Opens At Bushkill Playhouse

By David Ottaway
BUSHKILL—The Bushkill Playhouse invites its audience into a mystery in the next two weeks as it presents "Dangerous Corner," a creation of J. B. Priestley.

It is the story of truths untold and when revealed, proved better revealed. The adage "Let a sleeping dog lie" is violated as Robert Chatfield seeks to discover the truth about his brother Martin, a supposed suicide victim.

In the end, the truth is made manifest, peoples lives are ruined, and the simple moral is—keep a good radio going in your house. Sounds silly, but as the end of the play suggests, it was fate and the fact a group of inquisitors could not dance away the night, but instead had to hunt out the truth that marriages are split asunder, and the under lives of persons brought to life. Sid Gorelick as Robert Chatfield co-stars with Julie Craig as his wife Freda. Miss Craig portrays an entirely different personality from her role in "The Moon is Blue" last week. She is cast as a sophisticated woman and plays the part very well.

Gorelick rants and raves convincingly after the truth of his brother's death.

Mildred du Lany plays the part of the close friend to the Chatfields, the secret lover of Robert Chatfield and the last person to see his brother alive. With a slight tendency to overact, it becomes quite effective in the final act's revelation of the truth. All in all she performs commendably and portrays the worried air of one who wishes some truths to remain secret well indeed.

Ana Steele and Dale Shields team up as Betty and Gordon Whitehouse, friends of the Chatfields. Both have reason to regret the pursuit of truth as the mystery of Martin's death mushrooms to reveal their strange extra-marital relationships.

Miss Steele portrays a nervous, supposed immature woman with finesse and is capable of convincing emotional outbursts.

Dale Shields has something of a quiet reserve about him which goes well with the part he is cast in. As the admiring friend of Martin ready to defend him before the investive of others, he portrays both his devotion and worry convincingly.

Jack Randall as Charles Stanton, a thief in disguise, and the scapegoat for much bitterness also has done a creditably performance. He portrays an older man than he himself is with skill.

The play moves rapidly in three acts as the audience is quickly tossed into the mystery. There is more to it than the discovery of Martin's death for it deals with the effect of this on the parties involved.

Dairy To Send Waste Underground

ROBERT Irwin, owner of Penn-Dell Dairy, 665 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, said the dairy will make arrangements to dispose of milky water waste underground.

The State Sanitary Water Board Tuesday ordered the dairy to stop polluting Sambo Creek.

Irwin said a complaint against the dairy was made by a real estate owner.

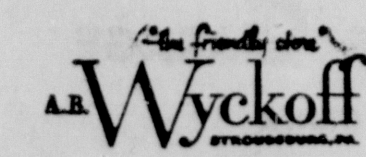

Irwin said the milky water is in no way harmful. The waste was polluting the stream only for a few feet along one bank where the milky water became caught in an eddy, he said.
